Experience

Education Week, Bethesda, Md.

Deputy Managing Editor, Digital

February 2017 - Present

I was hired full-time at Education Week, the leading source for K-12 education news, in 2008. Since that time, I've had a variety of roles and responsibilities that allowed me to hone my expertise in digital storytelling and strategy. Today, I develop and optimize news products to advance EdWeek's editorial and business goals. I was a core member of the team that worked on a years-long effort to redesign, replatform, and relaunch edweek.org. I am a newsroom leader, contributing to daily and long-term decisions about coverage. I also manage a team of digital news specialists. My latest bylines are available here.
